

There's colours in between us
But still it looks the same
You stand here before me Waking me up with
it's wonderful pain
The bus is gone before us

Then you wake up
And your walking in circles
Shaking the hand of bad habits again, again

This is right no
Trust me somehow
Let it be, just let it be
Walk out the door

Something better
Always never
Cos misery loves company
You can be sure

You're looking in the mirror
You're scratching off my skin
You think I didn't notice
The madness and torture is drawing me in
The satellite is watching

Then you come home
And switch on your sorrow
Boil up a bad mood
Shaking the hand of bad habits again

Always never, always never
Let it be, just let it be
Walk out the door
Always never, always never
Cos misery loves company
You can be sure
