Title: Another Day Has Gone By

download from: <http://www.lyricsdisc.com>

You wake up in the morning and before you can realize Another day has passed you by
You get your poor heart broke and before you can turn around
The evening sun has just gone down

It seems like it's this way most every day
Why fight it you can't save it you seem to throw time away [strings]
It seems like it's this way most every day...

It seems like time stands still and before you can tell
It seems to start right back again
Take notice and you'll see time is closing in on me
It's almost time to say goodbye

It seems like it's this way most every day...
