Title: Anything for love

Down in my mind there are fairy-tales growing,
about tears that would pass me by.
And lonely as I am these miracles are flowing,
they are killing the smile in my eyes.

Once in a lifetime I meet someone new,
as beautiful and sweet as you are.
The fast as you came, makes me wondering why,
your tears are connected to mine.

Wish I could do anything for love,
everything you are dreaming of.
When does a smile become a thought,
and when do tears keep falling, deeper in love.

All that I am is what I feel for you now,
I'm replacing this peace of my mind.
And all that I've left for the future somehow,
makes me light a dream for the beauty of your smile.

All that I ask from you is making me smile,
for these thoughts to go away.
Coz I was dreaming of it just for a while,
that you'd be here with me today.
