

Barefoot standing in the spotlight
Crowds are watching me
Standing on flowers of nails
And needles like grass

I'm literally naked, they are gazing into my eyes
Do i have anything to say
I open up my mouth
Small human raise your voice

I hear, I, I hear, I
I hear sentences in the night
From a heart that's
I hear, I, I hear, I
From my heart that is broken
From a heart that is mine

I refuse to let my age decide
Wether i am strong enough
I refuse to let their expectations kill my love for them
So here i stand, and i will stand like steel
But i bend my head every morning
Because this is not my own
This is not my own

I hear, I, I hear, I
I hear sentences in the night
From a heart that's
I hear, I, I hear, I
From my heart that is broken
From a heart that is mine

I hear, I, I hear, I
I hear sentences in the night
From a heart that's
I hear, I, I hear, I...

I can see them smiling
But they look around
And will turn away
I wish that they would come