

Artist: liz_phair

Title: Beginning to see the light

download from: <http://www.lyricsdisc.com>

You want me home, but I'm gone all night
And we've probably been in some kind of fight
But if that's not real, than that's not right
And I'm beginning to see the light
Yes I'm beginning to see the light
And all the stars up in heaven are rushed by an angel
To see the light in your face better
And if god would only listen
He would surely create us a moment of everlasting grace
And I may be young but I still know
The things you put down can rise from below
And I can hardly believe you'd lay them at my door
'Cause I have heard that song before
Yes I have heard that song before
And all the stars up in heaven are rushed by an angel
To see the light in your face better
And if god would only listen
He would surely create us a moment of everlasting grace
You want me home, but I'm gone all night
And we've probably been in some kind of fight
But if that's not real, than that's not right
And I'm beginning to see the light
Yes I'm beginning to see the light