I know things change in the minute you're far away
Don't you know I'm scared,
'Cause we live in a time, when only profit rules the world',
The evil's unfurled

The sunrise and the rain are searching for some friends,
Do you see them? Did you ever see them?

The fire burns, world's burning, burning
Don't leave your house, world's burning, burning,
I couldn't go on without you!

Look above in the sky, all these beautiful things never die,
There's a peace inside us all, it's the last thing we've got, before our world turns to dust,
Never give up fighting for it!

People on the streets are searching for some friends,
Do you see them? Did you ever see them?

The fire burns, world's burning, burning
Don't leave your house, world's burning, burning,
I couldn't go on without you!

If I could save the world with open arms, then I would do it,
This is our final stand, our final chance to join
