The First Day

Nothin i have said
Nor have i ever done everthing
This is he first day

You resound me with consternation
And cover me up with darkness
I don't want to love you
Nor can i live without you

Death is shining in your eyes
Your arrogance - blind anger
You spit into my face
And by that never see myself
Death is shining in your eyes
Your arrogance - blind anger
You spit the blood
The stab hits me
In your eyey you and i

The harshness of unity
Alone it remains unattained
With all that noise and shouting
You are never without a leader
So i am at the mercy of your hate
Of yours and of those Whose closness i forgot
