

talking)

I know that this question raises, all kinds of issues in my mind. this question is... do you believe in christ? Because I believe that what we experienced, and it's not being talked about openly enough, was pure evil.

CHORUS:

Sometimes i wish this world was just a crazy dream (crazy dream) sometimes things aren't what they are meant to be, But what they seem...

VERSE:

Sometimes i wish this world was one big dream so many tragedies, life threatening disease, in reality who can we blame for these things so we pray for the family and the soul of the people shot dead they cry roaming through the halls of the school at night, my homie joseph in texas 14 years old police took his life at his front door, maybe humans have converted in to a beast can we really point the finger at just one thing is it a sign of the time or just the beginning i pray to God to help me keep living, jealousy,envy, and so much hate new born babies thrown in garbage cans everyday, in a lobby of a hospital a young girl dies, no money to pay so she pays with her life.

(repeat chorus)

How many times must we ask our selves why, and how many times must we watch our children die. Remember the time we were united as one, growin up as a child, life was always funtimes have changed and it's been for the worst trials and tribulations that we face ofcourse time to put our foot down, lets get to know our young ones before the next tragedy comes and it becomes the realest one 1999, this year is half way over Guess we're now learning that we're not learning i could of told you Maybe this happened for a reason, only the lord knows why A message for us to open up our eyes, cuz death awaits us at any given time My love goes out to those who souls rest tonight The only thing we can do is ask ourselves why Wish this wouldn't be all we can do is pray and cry

(repeat Chorus) Things change for the wrong, we can't go on this long, hand in hand right by your side. Our love within and no more cry. So if i was to go tonight, i pray that you'll be all right. one night one might be yours One soul unite, one voice.

Pray for all of us, father not let us take things for granted (let us not take things for granted) And please let us count each and every one of our blessings father.

Now Generation X is what they call it, why's that? is that because this is where it all ends at. To go to war we don't need to be overseas, it's been declared in the streets, gangsters, thugs moving drugs. government officials black market, military guns, is this why you gave us the right to bare arms? to hit armagedon head on, read between the lines, it's genocide. Now the youth just don't smoke weed, they got things like man made methanphedamines, never let their young souls dreams. And what do to, when out youth is being mentally, physically, sexually abused. How do we change, when it's ....The year 2k and every day i watch the news and it shows how close we are to judgement day, and for a dying world. I pray.

(repeat chorus)
