underneath the skin
a glittering ocean
the waves and the pulsating soil a spine bent into perverse angles projected on a screen
a charming grimace
i shot my thoughts at you dreading the recoil's impact the unrest of one instant and the amphorae were pulverized
the imaginary silhouettes i plunged into the fountain's crystalline waters without dreading the clash with the surface you stole from me my riches and my tremors
an anaemic body
i threw the explosive caresses back at the smileress and they bounced
