

You've got a plan why don't you do it cause it took fifty thousand years just to think through it is it worth all of the lies? is it worth learning your lines?
is it worth falling behind?
don't ask me I don't care
just put me anywhere
just fill in the blank and all those holes add up to nothing but you thought somewhere someone tried to tell you something long ago life was so easy, now you know you fall to pieces now you know take it or leave now what have we here?
just a cheap souvenir and it's not gonna make it we'll never get anywhere there's nowhere to go could be some way out of here but we'll never know it's got a name
why can't you say it cause it took fifty thousand years just to relay it in those days life was so perfect yesterday it's hardly worth it in those days life was perfect
I can't fill in the blank.
