

From the first time you walked in my door,
I could see we were playing no more,
Now every weekend-year and post-college fear,
Has made things different than they once were.
Always came with a warning before,
But now you feel like you're losing the war,
How can I make you see that you can't lose me,
Cuz I'm still in love and want you for: Forever: Forever, so weird at first, but now I'm sure, I surrender: Forever,
And whatever it is that you want me to do, I'll do it Oh year.
Don't you know I could give you the world,
Just say that you want it, it's yours,
And when it sets you free with nothin' to believe,
Just remember girl that I'll be yours:
All the stars in your eyes,
Burn to light up your smile,
Everything is so bright,
I don't wanna just hide,
From the things that I used to be scared of tonite.