

Artist: flaw

Title: Many Faces

download from: <http://www.lyricsdisc.com>

Will it take some time, to release this inner apathy
Enabled inside, and it looks like you're the enemy

Things are never what they seem, can't explain the reasons why
The illusions that we see, the many faces of our lives
When you find it hard to breathe, never keep it all inside
Which one should I be, the many faces of our lives

Irrelevant minds, you'll become a little more serious
Still passing me by, you should not be rightly dear to us

Things are never what they seem, can't explain the reasons why
The illusions that we see, the many faces of our lives
When you find it hard to breathe, never keep it all inside
Which one should I be, the many faces of our lives

If you feel that the timing is all wrong
Here's the key to remove yourself from harm
Maybe then you will live again, live again

Things are never what they seem, can't explain the reasons why
The illusions that we see, the many faces of our lives
When you find it hard to breathe, never keep it all inside
Which one should I be, the many faces of our lives

I'm afraid we're in too deep, things are never what they seem
I'm afraid we're in too deep
I'm afraid we're just too deep to come out okay
I'm afraid we're just too deep to come out okay
Now