Title: Million Miles Away

download from: <http://www.lyricsdisc.com>

Here we lay face to face once again,
the Silence cuts like a knife as we pretend.
and Im wondering who will be the first, to say what we both know
We're just holding on to could have been and we should be letting go.

[Chorus:]

It feels like your a million miles away as your lying here with me tonight. And I can't even find the words to say I can find a way to make it right. and we both know that the stories ending, we play the part but we're just pretending and I cant hide the tears cause even though your here, it feels like your a million miles away.(away)...

Was it me, or was it you that broke away? what we were is like a season love is change and every, time I think about it, it tears me up inside. Like the rivers of emotion, but I got no more tears to cry.

[Chorus:]

[Music Plays:]

[Bridge]

We can try to talk it over but we walked that road before, boy our song has playing it's last note, and we both know for sure, that its time to close that door.

[Chorus:]
