

Withered away
I see it everyday
Complacence desecrates
The fabric of our lives

Emptiness fills inside me
Bitterness has denied me
Faith that this world
Could ever really give a shit

When i feel it
Come falling
I turn you away

I hear the things that you found
Might leave a face without a sound
Don't push my back against the wall
This iron strength will never fail
Will NEVER

Freezing inside
This sould has petrified
As concrete fills the skies
This life in disarray

Consequence every action
Brings violence from the passions
Loneliness the emotion
Shivering inside

When I feel it
Come falling
I turn you away

I hear the things that you found
Might leave a face without a sound
Don't push my back against the wall
This iron strength will never fail
Will NEVER

I fell aroused
The falling sun
For so long I been away
For years till now
Been holding on
For so long I been away

I've nothing left for nobody else
I've nothing left for nobody

When I feel it
Come falling
I turn you away

I hear the things that you found
Might leave a face without a sound
Don't push my back against the wall
This iron strength will never fail
