

It's cold outside so understand if I don't hang around to wait I'll say goodbye and kiss your hand and then get on with being brave but don't expect to wipe away the tears cos you know they belong and someone else just went away before I ever came along and tried to melt the snow
and tried to melt the snow

and meanwhile I'll be here
and I pray to god above that someday you might learn again its you I'm dreaming of
and meanwhile I'll be here
and I pray to god above
that someday you might turn again to me your one and ever love

Its cold outside so understand
If I don't hang around and cry I let you go without a word a memory bluer than the sky and I've tried not to watch you go and ill try not to stand alone behind you in the snow
behind you in the snow

and meanwhile I'll be here
and I pray to god above
that someday you might turn again to me
your one and ever, one and ever carry me away to a world that doesn't lead to you so I don't have to say for all the days you wanna be there

and meanwhile I'll be here
and I pray to god above
that someday you might learn again
it's you I'm dreaming of
and meanwhile I'll be here
and I pray to god above
that someday you might turn to me again
your one and ever love

and meanwhile I'll be here
and I pray to god above
that someday you might turn again to me
your one and ever, one and ever