

Patrick and his army was roaming down the street To spread the word of victory
Of their wonderful defeat
The courtyarders had battled (the courtyarders had won) now Patrick and his army are out to have some fun
So they ran around in circles
Run Patrick!
Run Run Run!
And tried to spin around
but Patrick and the courtyarders
fell upon the ground!
The night was filled with silence like an overweight balloon
'Cause Patrick his army
Were dancing on the moon.
Lindy-hop and jitter bug and a little east coast swing soon tired out the courtyarders but Patrick kept dan-cing
So they ran around in circles
Run Patrick!
Run Run Run!
And tried to spin around
but Patrick and the courtyarders
fell upon the ground!
But now the night is darker all the courtyarders were asleep
The silence was even stiller and none could hear a peep
But Patrick started singing
He gave his Jitter and his jive
And soon that deadened party was once again alive
So they ran around in circles
Run Patrick!
Run Run Run!
And tried to spin around
but Patrick and the courtyarders
fell upon the ground!
(repeat until silent)