Well I've had enough of these selfish cries
I hurt myself again not knowing why
It seems so easy to leave it all behind
And to avoid the truth I think I'd rather just go blind
Then everything erupts
My life has come unglued
And the ties that bind have left me
What am I to do

Can't seem to recognize
That stare behind those eyes
Who is this man I see
Who's looking back at me
Can't focus through the pain
And I am fading into nothing
The reflection must get clearer

I think I'm cracking up, like I've lost my mind
I hurt myself again, still don't know why
I end up the same way each and every time
Can't avoid the truth there's just nowhere to run and hide
Then everything erupts
Just like I knew it would
Been down here long enough
It never felt that good
Is this what I've become
My life has come unglued
And the ties that bind have left me
What am I to do?

Can't seem to recognize
That stare behind those eyes
Who is this man I see
Who's looking back at me
Can't focus through the pain
And I am fading into nothing
The reflection must get clearer

Then it appears to me right now
There must be someone I can see
There's got to be something for me
Show it now, let it go free
I know it's there waiting on me
Let it out, let it go free

Can't seem to recognize
That stare behind those eyes
Who is this man I see
Who's looking back at me
Can't focus through the pain
And I am fading into nothing
The reflection must get clearer

Can't seem to recognize x2
The reflection must get clearer
