

you've been trying to get me open, caught out in the open, everyone is hoping. you'd give anything to take this, everything to break this, everyone is faceless. give me somethin' to believe in, quick, or else im leavin', need a better reason. i know things get complicated, so mis-educated, it's a wonder that we made it.

situation, under speculation what are we facin?
too much complications, looking for a name and a new generation, a new focus, new destination.

i don't wanna look i just wanna find can you give me something to believe in?
keep your religion, don't need your lies i'm just looking for one good reason. i feel like it's teenage hunting season and nothing out there sounds half decent. who's out there? who's going to save us? before we all fall through the cracks in the pavement.

i know

i'm never gonna fall in line, so don't even bother wasting your time, i'm a breed of a different kind sent back just to invade your mind situation

under speculation
what are we facing?
too much complications
looking for a name
in a new generation
a new focus
new destination

and if you don't know what im talking about, it's probably better cause im working out, don't wanna spend my lifetime figurin out, that i coulda just said one prayer.
and if you know what i'm talking about, then together we're both working it out, don't wanna spend my lifetime figuring out, i missed the point now it's over
i missed the point now it's over
i missed the point now it's over
i missed the point now it's over
i missed the point now it's over
i missed the point now it's over
