

Give us something, anything to keep us at ease
the feeling in our minds is lost.
I'm afraid you're wrong
and these days are getting longer.
This is something I know we can't stop.
This is what we're told one more fact after another live in fear and fear the unknown.
We have to wonder why.
Are these facts or is this fiction?
Live in fear and fear what we can't

Stop, we're not safe.
If the oceans don't protect us from the world we know and hate.
Hey, who are you
to say these things we thought you meant
and go back on your word?

Give us something, anything to keep us silent
the feeling in our minds is found.
And I'm afraid you're right
and these days are getting longer.
This is something I know we can't

Stop, we're not safe.
If the oceans don't protect us from the world we know and hate.
Hey, who are you
to say these things we thought you meant
and go back on your word?

The promises that keep us strong
The promises that keep us going