

quiet
seems like an honest world you're begging for the Begger's bread when the money's out stand, climb, and fall
you carry the world
can't carry your own

when the world is falling down and another breaks
and another falls
four losers always make the winner's day

stand, climb, and fall
you carry the weight
can't carry it all

are you falling
are you faking
are you Healing
are you breaking
am I burning
am I only melting
these diamonds in the making

And I'm at the end of myself everything you want
And nothing seems to satisfy me take anything you want

quiet
a sound you know so well you're living just to make it through another day
stand, climb, and fall
you carry the world
can't carry your own

are you falling
are you faking
are you healing
are you breaking
am I burning
am I only melting
these diamonds in the making

And I'm at the end of myself
everything you want
and nothing seems to satisfy me
take anything you want
take anything you want
take anything you want

quiet