Title: The garden

download from: <http://www.lyricsdisc.com>

She planted roses , the first year we married - it soon was a garden we'd go walking through - My job kept me travling but when I came home to heaven She was so proud to show
Now I come to the garden alone All my reasons I once had for living are gone. Sometimes when I feel like I just cant go on -I come to the garden alone
No one can imagine - just how much I miss her . I'd give up this whole world to once more hold her near.
It's just beyond on me why god took her from me I bet the flowers in heaven are looking better this year.
Where the dew kissed the roses - where weeds now have grown
