

sitting here alone at this one stop train station with nothing to keep my mind at bay but the smiles on stranger's faces and the moment when i saw your eyes peering through that frosted window i swear i felt this scarf get tighter around my neck, around my neck

i swear i felt this scarf get tighter
around my neck, around my neck and now i just sit here waiting... waiting and now it seems that i dont even have to try to keep your mouth shut and you know that i would do anything just to hear you scream and break the silence at the top of your lungs yeah breaking the silence with you is like pulling my teeth out yeah breaking the silence with you

is like pulling my teeth out and now i jsut sit here waiting so we're spending this years holidays alone nothing left to keep us warm

nothing left to keep us warm

So we're spending this years holidays alone
nothing left to keep us warm
nothing left to keep us warm

but the fire that burns in our guts and we can count the doves as one by one their lovers fall,
as one by one their lovers fall,

like the fire that burns in our guts
and we can count the doves
as one by one their lovers fall,
as one by one their lovers fall.

crashing into the ground exploding in the air, as the earth opens up beneath to swallow their empty corpses.

So we're spending this years holidays alone
nothing left to keep us warm
nothing left to keep us warm

So we're spending this years holidays alone
nothing left to keep us warm
nothing left to keep us warm

like the fire that burns in our guts
and we can count the doves
as one by one their lovers fall,
as one by one their lovers fall,
as one by one their lovers fall,
as one by one their lovers fall,

as one by one their lovers fall.