Title: Till you were gone

---

I'm watching children in the park it really warms my heart it's something to remember I teake a walk down by the sea the wind is killing me must be the end of summ I think about the things I've said and done but most of all I do regret that I didn't know you were the one
till you were gone

I take the train back to my street I need something to eat but I'm not going home yet sitting outside a restaurant I watch the world go by I'm wondering where you are now I think about the things you've said and done well you were right and I was wrong I didn't know
you were the one
till you were gone
