

erase the feeling
break apart from fear stand up to your controller you can't regulate me I won't take this frustration I've got my self liberation break down the walls that block your line of sight, so you can do what's right you'll fall, but I'll remain upright you are wrong and I am right you continue to hate and you make another kill the innocent blood that will spill a life of pain filled with emotional strain you'll fall, but I'll remain upright
you are wrong and I am right you've tried to prove me wrong before and I've done my best to ignore your accusations but this time you've gone too far you've stepped into my life and now you can't stop me from being real this is reality
and you are wrong you can kick me to the ground or get your friend to gather around I will stand up to your fist, an innocent glance you twist I am right you are wrong
you'll fall, but I'll remain upright
you are wrong and I am right