

The world's caving in,
I got tickets for two They're not the best seats and they're not the best view Take my hand,
you can squeeze on my arm Wake from your slumber, baby, it's gonna start
It was worth the price of admission

The two of us watch the world cave in

The world's caving in like the prophecy calls Barter redemption for diamonds and pearls
The rich got the camel through the eye of a needle
The deed in itself was inherently evil
When all's been said and written

The two of us watch the world cave in

The world's caving in,
they're releasing the souls Trapped in the earth where we can't hear their calls Unbelievable torture, you wouldn't believe
This is their passion, their chance to be free
But they're beaten into submission

Free at last, watch the world cave in

When all's been said and written
The two of us watch the world cave in
