

You've give in, you've accepted
Learned to embrace the rut
The confines in which you exist
You've all but given up
Listen to me now my friend
I'm giving you, your warning
I fear for you now
That's why I've issued you, your warning
I want to see you rise to your fullest
Not cower and die
Live your life, like you own it
Because there is only so much time
Time is ticking away
It is all inside your head
Time to tap into the living
Drop that zombie front my friend
I know you have got it in you
Your warning